

CMO Memo on H2 2026 Planning

H2 2026 Media Budget Recommendation

To	CMO & Marketing Leadership Team
From	MMM Team
Date	11 June 2026
Subject	MMM v5.3.1 results & H2 2026 budget allocation (constrained scenario)

2. The Model Behind the Numbers — MMM v5.3.1

Method	Ridge regression, non-negative media effects, with adstock (carry-over) and saturation (diminishing returns) per channel
Data	125 weeks: Jan 2024 – May 2026 — first refresh to include full H1 2026
Hyperparameter tuning	Automated 400-trial Bayesian (Optuna) search
Validation design	29-week out-of-sample holdout (Nov 2025 – May 2026), spanning Black Week + Christmas + Q1
Fit	Train R² = 0.68 · Holdout R² = 0.29 (passes hard gate ≥ 0.2) · Holdout WAPE 27.7%
Verdict	USABLE FOR STEERING — both hard acceptance gates passed

What's new vs the previous production model: newer data (through May 2026), calendar-anchored validation guaranteeing Black Week is tested out-of-sample, and sub-channel (L2) attribution now live for Paid Social and Influencer, in addition to Brand.

- iROAS (average return): total incremental revenue ÷ total spend over the full 125 weeks.
- mROI (marginal return): revenue generated by the next euro at the current spend level.

Rule of thumb: scale channels with mROI > 1, cut channels with mROI < 1.

* Brand measured on an 8-week effect window — conservative lower-bound. Client-fixed in H2 plan.
 High returns at low spend base; partly attribution-assisted. Validate with incrementality tests before scaling.

7. Confidence, Caveats & Known Limitations

#	Limitation	What it means for decisions
1	Holdout R² = 0.29, WAPE 27.7%	Projections are directional. Channel ranking and direction of shifts is robust; point estimates carry wide confidence bands.
2	Brand measured on an 8-week window	Long-term brand equity effects not captured; Brand’s true ROI is higher than 1.04x. The fixed envelope partially compensates.
3	Influencer L2 floors bind (Section 6.2)	The per-platform plan is a floor-driven cut, not a free optimisation. Mix improvement requires contract action.
4	Google/Affiliate iROAS likely attribution-assisted	High returns partly reflect demand created by other channels. Fixed doubling of Google is a controlled test. Run incrementality tests before further scaling.
5	YouTube Paid Social = LOW confidence	Minimal historical spend. The test budget doubling should be treated as a promising signal, nothing more.
6	Black Week is hard to forecast	H2 contains Black Week + Christmas. Plan promo inventory/logistics off commercial forecasts, not the MMM.

Prepared with MMM v5.3.1 (production model, 125 weeks). Scenario arithmetic independently validated.
